

Julie Broadway
President
American Horse Council

Julie Broadway was named the president of the American Horse Council in May, 2016. Prior to assuming that position, she was the executive director of the American Morgan Horse Association & Educational-Charitable Trust.

Before joining the American Morgan Horse Association & Educational-Charitable Trust, Broadway provided management consulting services and served in various executive leadership roles within the energy industry.

In addition to her extensive leadership experience, Broadway is the current board president for the Professional Association of Therapeutic Horsemanship and has played an active role with the American Horse Council and the United States Equestrian Federation over the past several years.

Broadway earned Bachelor of Science degrees in industrial relations and psychology from the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill and a Masters of Business Administration degree with a concentration in finance from the Weems Graduate School at Meredith College in Raleigh, NC. She is also a graduate of the Duke University Advanced Nonprofit Leadership Program, and a Certified Association Executive (CAE) from American Society of Association Executives.